DEALINGS ARE SMALL

Prices on Market Hardened Trifle, But Trading Was Without Significance.

MONEY SUPPLY IS AMPLE

Weather in Crop Regions Continues Favorable-Pressure on Southern Pacific Relieved.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 18.—The final transnetions of the week in the stock market hard-ned prices a trifle, but the dealings were small and without significance. The fever in Southern Pacific subsided, and the freedom from pressure of that stock relieved the general list from the symnethetic sugging tendency present since relieved the general list from the sympathetic sagging tendency present since the preferred stock issue was announced. Weather in the crop regions continued favorable, and the money supply is so ampie for all demands that there is little pressure upon the market in the absence of any positively bad development. Southern Pacific made a languid recovery, and then lost practically all of it just at the close. An increase of $111,000 in Missouri Pacific's gross earnings for the second week in June may explain the recent advance in that stock, but it had little effect on to-day's movement. Amalgamated Copper gained a point on the strength of confect on to-day's movement. Amalgamated Copper gained a point on the strength of the reports of recent large sales of coppor, both for domestic and export accounts. The very conservative tone of the merantile agency reviews as to the general course of trade had a repressive effect on the speculation in stocks. Complications of railroad net earnings for April show the effects of trade inactivety

and small grain and cotton movements.
The increase in the bank surplus conformed preity closely to expectations, and reveaced no change in conditions existing or some time past, and was little noticed. The holiday in London added to the duliness of the trading.
Total sales of bonds, par value, $200,000.
Total sales of stocks were 76,300 shares.

DANVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

Danville, Va., June 13, 1004.

Dibrell Brothers report sales for this week as quite small and the stock offered common, much of which was in a damaged condition. The farmers are no doubt taking advantage of the weather and securing their wheat crop. Prices remain without change for the past several weeks. No report of any sales of size made in round lots of hogsheaf tobacco. Allogether, in tobacco circles, it was an exceedingly dull week.

of the executor during the years 1902 and 1903.

Counting the taxes for the years 1902 and 1903 on the property in the hands of the executor, the decision means to Amherst county about $5,000 and to the State of Virginia about $3,000 making a total of about $5,000 gained for the State and county by the decision.

The case first arose in the County Court of Amherst county, where it was passed upon by Judge W. G. Loving, of Nelson county, who sat in the case for ex-Judge Campbell. The Sweet Briar estate moved to be released from assessment of the Sweet Briar personalty in the hands of the executor for the reasons that (I) The bulk of the estate was at the time of the assessment situated in New York, where the executor had taken out letters ancillary and (2) because the property was devised to a charitable institution, and as such was entitled in exemption from taxation. Judge Loving decided that the situs of the property for taxation was in New York, and that the property was in New York, and that the situation sid not apply until the property had actually been turned over to the school, and not apply until the property had actually been turned over to the school, and not while it was sill in the hands of the executor. Judge Grimsley, of the Circuit Court, reversed this, and the Court of Appeals reversed Judge Grimsley, thus sustaining Judge Loving, Commonowealth's Attorney O. L. Evans represented the county in the Court of Appeals, while the State was represented by Attorney-Ganeral W. A. Anderson.

The June ferm of the Amherst Circuit Court for Appeals, while the State was represented by Attorney-Ganeral W. A. Anderson.

The June ferm of the Amherst Circuit the most lengthy cases will be continued by consent, and a long term is not expected.
